

I am writing to ask you not to allow LPFM to have priority over current translator services. Myself and many others in the community listen to a Christian Radio Station which is a translator service known as K-LOVE. Many of us travel and it is nice to know that anywhere we go we can all be listening to the same station. There are enough radio stations to choose from right now without taking over translator services. It would be devastating to know that this change could affect the station I listen to morning till night. It keeps me motivated and committed to leading a Christian life. I have told my friends, family, and even strangers to listen to this station, and they have commented to me that they are so glad that there is a station that plays Christian songs without commercials. Please consider this request and not let LPFM take over K-LOVE translator services.
